

Internet?

Let's get connected! There's a Wi-Fi connection that will connect you to the internet in the flat. Great for your phone, and it doesn't have to use your own data.

The internet is pretty high-speed and very reliable. If you're connecting via a phone, the apartment is in the city centre and so there tends to be good mobile network coverage as well anyway.

If you need a hard-wired connection, perhaps you need one to connect your work's laptop to the internet. This is an option. There are fully network switch capabilities and plenty of Ethernet cables. So just ask Dan and he'll sort this out.
